Wednesday, Mar. 17—Classes meeting sixth hour on any cycle starting on either Monday or Wednesday, 8-9:50 a.m.; classes meeting sixth hour on any cycle starting on either Tuesday or Thursday, 10-11:50 a.m.; classes meeting fifth hour on any cycle starting on either Monday or Wednesday, 1-2:50 p.m.; classes meeting fifth hour on any cycle starting on either Tuesday or Thursday, 3:45 p.m., and classes meeting 10th hour on any day, 5 p.m.

In case of conflict, classes meeting on any cycle starting on either Monday or Wednesday, take precedence over classes starting on either Tuesday or Thursday.

No final examination will be given before Monday, except on written permission from the Registrar, the announcement stated.

Law College Examinations

The examination schedule for the Winter quarter for the College of Law has been announced by the dean's office as follows:

Thursday, Mar. 11, morning—Contracts II and III.

Friday, Mar. 12, morning—Constitutional law II; afternoon, private corporations I and II.

Saturday, Mar. 13, morning—Pleading I; afternoon, credit transactions (suretyship).

Monday, Mar. 15, morning—Domestic relations; afternoon, conflict of laws.

Tuesday, Mar. 16, morning—Trial procedures I, and administrative law.

Wednesday, Mar. 17, morning—Torts III, and landlord and tenant, afternoon, legal bibliography.

Breeders Association Offers Scholarship

The Kentucky Aberdeen Angus Breeders Cooperative Association has announced a $75 scholarship for a member of the livestock judging team of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Members of the team receive intensive instruction in the selection of livestock. Last year the Kentucky team placed first in judging cattle at the International Livestock Exposition. Teams from 29 states took part in the contest.

WLEX To Broadcast University Programs

Radio station WLEX, of Lexington, is broadcasting a series of five shows originating at the University station, WBKY, said Elmer Sulzer, director of radio at the University. The programs, which began on Monday, "The Checkerboard Show," "Dick Pigmans," "Book Chat," the "WBKY Players," and "Martha Neff," are heard at 9:45 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Vets Must Prove Dependency Claim

Officials of the Veterans Administration announced Thursday that all veterans who have children and wish to claim them as dependents for additional subsistence recently granted by Congress, must submit proof of their dependency.

A copy of the child's birth certificate may be submitted to the Veteran's Personnel Office, Room 204, Administration Building.

New Campus Party Movement Starting

Fight Against Social Ties Is Objective

A move to inaugurate a new campus party was begun Monday night at a meeting led by Ellis Foster, Independent Association president, in the Student Union Building.

The objective of the meeting, according to Foster, was to begin a movement open to all students, and cutting across the social ties which have dominated campus politics in the past.

Ali-Campus Party

The new organization, probably to be known as the Ali-Campus Party, will seek support from all students interested in the selection of SGA candidates "based, not on social status, but on leadership qualifications of its supporters," Foster said.

Asked about the political position of the new party, Foster stated that a progressive program for greater student participation in self-government is being formulated.

Program To Include Parade

The tentative program includes the parade through Lexington followed by judging of the floats on Stoll Field. The afternoon program would be devoted to such events as three-legged races, sack races and relays for both men and women groups. In addition to the men's competition in other track and field activities.

ROTC, Band Plan Parade

The University Band and ROTC cadre corps will participate in the Lexington celebration of Army Day, to be held Tuesday, April 6.

The band and the ROTC members will join a parade immediately after a ceremony on the courthouse lawn.

Col. G. T. Mackenzie, commanding officer of the corps, has been designated as marshal for the parade, which is sponsored by the American Legion Man of War Post No. 8.

On Monday afternoon, April 5, the ROTC will be reviewed by Acting President Leo M. Chamberlain who will introduce the speaker, a visiting army officer, yet to be named.

Open house will be held after the review and 450 Boy Scouts from the Lexington area will be the guests of the corps. Displayed there will be an Air Force exhibit, modern Signal Corps equipment, and the latest infantry arms.

College Of Pharmacy Fraternity Honors Pledges At Dinner

Initiation ceremonies for 12 pledges of Upsilon chapter of Kappa Psi, pharmaceutical fraternity at the College of Pharmacy in Louisville, were held Tuesday at the Seelbach Hotel, Louisville.

Following the initiation a dinner was held in honor of the new members. Guests at the dinner were Dean Earl P. Stone, Dean Emeritus Gordon L. Curry, Prof. M. Jongeward, faculty advisor, Prof. Jesse Y. Hubbard, and Mrs. Mary E. Dilly, former registrar of the college.

The fraternity was granted its charter in 1909 at the Louisville College of Pharmacy, which became affiliated with the University last June. The chapter has increased its membership to 42 from the eight during World War II.

Six Honored Cadets Plan To Join Army

Six of the seven Distinguished Military students of the year, have already applied for commissions in the Regular Army, Col. G. T. Mackenzie, ROTC head, announced.

They are Dalton B. Caldwell, Leonard L. Preston, James S. Tucker, and John E. Walden II, who chose the infantry, and William N. Corbett and William A. Toombs who chose the Air Force.

Mary Jo Ridley, above, freshman home economics major from Beaver Dam, has been selected cover girl for the March issue of Modern Miss, promotional magazine of the Simpli-city Pattern Company. She was elected by popular vote of 150 delegates to the National 4-H Club Congress, held last December in Chicago.

UK Shares In $25,000 Graduate Aid

Three Schools Will Exchange Students

The Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration, an inter-institutional project of the University and two other southern universities, Tuesday was named the recipient of a $25,000 grant by the General Education Board.

Launched four years ago, the program is designed to develop a training program in public administration under which the Universities of Kentucky, Alabama and Tennessee exchange students and credit at the graduate level of study.

T.V.A. Cooperates

The program is one of the few operating national projects in the field of higher education in the south and in the nation. Co-operating with the universities are the Tennessee Valley Authority, state and local governmental agencies, and other federal agencies located in the southern region.

Educational features of the project are administered by a joint committee representing the three universities and other agencies and by an educational director operating from the Bureau of Public Administration in the University of Alabama. James W. Martin, distinguished professor of economics and director of the Bureau of Business Research here, has been the representative on the committee the past four years. He will be succeeded by Dr. Gladys Kammerer, associate professor of Political Science.

Nine college and university students are currently studying under one-year fellowships granted by the program to become experts in the field of public administration in the South. They enrolled as students of the University of Tennessee for the Winter quarter and are scheduled to be here for the Spring quarter to complete their one year of training.

Proficiency Exams To Be Next Week

All students in the College of Arts and Sciences wishing to take the foreign language proficiency examinations during the week of March 8 must report immediately to Room 128, McVey Hall, to register for the examination. Dr. M. M. White, chairman of the Foreign Language Proficiency Examination Board announced.

ROTC, Band Plan Parade

The University Band and ROTC cadre corps will participate in the Lexington celebration of Army Day, to be held Tuesday, April 6.

The band and the ROTC members will join a parade immediately after a ceremony on the courthouse lawn.

Col. G. T. Mackenzie, commanding officer of the corps, has been designated as marshal for the parade, which is sponsored by the American Legion Man of War Post No. 8.

On Monday afternoon, April 5, the ROTC will be reviewed by Acting President Leo M. Chamberlain who will introduce the speaker, a visiting army officer, yet to be named.

SGA Gives Democrats Club Constitution Its Approval

Approval of the constitution of a campus Young Democrats Club was given by the Student Government Association Assembly Monday night.

The meeting was the next to last for the present administration, headed by Claude Sprowls. Election of an SGA president and a number of assemblers is scheduled for April 1.

The constitution of the Democrat organization said it is "an organization interested in political affairs, more specifically in the Democratic Party."

Awards Planned

Approval for the sending of a delegate to the World Forum at Tulane University on April 14-17, with expenses paid by SGA, was voted.

Two loving cups will be purchased for presentation to the two assem-

Law School Dean Opposes Bar Exam Bill

Dean A. E. Evans of the University College of Law expressed opposition this week to a bill which would eliminate bar examinations for law school graduates. The bill was scheduled for the House floor Tuesday afternoon.

Approximately 100 University law students went to Frankfort Monday night to seek passage of the bill, introduced in the General Assembly by Rep. Earl Ashcraft, Irvine, former University law student.

Opposition Explained

In discussing the bill, Dean Evans said the measure would put too much responsibility on teachers in law schools. He said the present system of bar examinations furnished a desirable opportunity for review of the prospective lawyer's training.

Days

Dean Evans said the crux of the issue is the delay in issuing grades after the students have taken the test. He said that the report of grades should be given as soon as possible and should state whether the applicant will be recommended to the Court of Appeals for admission to the bar.

Dean Evans stated that the chairman of the Bar Examiners had told him that "he thought it could be done" to grade the state bar examinations in June, the month in which they are given, and let the prospective lawyers know immediately whether they had passed the examination or not.

He stated that he thought the law students had a valid argument in objecting to the delay in grading the papers. "So far as I know," he stated, "all professors require an examination of their members. There is absolutely no reason why we should exempt lawyers."

Wednesday the bill was amended to include graduates of all schools in the state rather than just the accredited ones as it originally read.

Dean Evans said that he was opposed to any "divorce" between the schools, courts and bar associations.

No Proof

The students' stand is that their professors are better able to judge their ability after three years of observation in law school than a state committee is after three days of examination.

"We feel that no other profession is put under the burden of spending three years getting an academic degree in proof of their ability and then having a board determine whether he is to be allowed to practice the profession," the student leaders explained.

A three-day examination is no proof, no way to determine whether a person has the qualifications of a lawyer. So many unpredictable and temporary factors enter into the examination requirement that we feel it is unfair. Such an examination only proves an ability to cram a lot of isolated facts into your head and then repeat them before a board. On the other hand, the law school faculty gives evidence of a student's full preparation for the profession by granting him a degree after three years of intensive instruction and individual observation.

Queens Are Feted

The Kentuckian beauty queen and her five attendants were special guests of Joyland Casino for the dance Monday night.

The six beauty queen candidates who will attend the "command performance" are Mrs. Pat Poe, Fawn Gray, Evelyn Ewing, Frances White, Nancy Shinnick, and Sue Allen.

Miss Christine Cook, Mardi Gras dance queen, will also be a guest for the performance.

Engineer Publication Names Martin Editor

William C. Martin was elected editor of the Kentucky Engineer for 1948-49 at a meeting last week.

Many Interviews

Over 500 appointments for interviews with representatives of 24 companies and organizations at the Job Conference had been made Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Dorothy Evans, faculty advisor, estimated.

"This is undoubtedly the most successful year we have had," she said. "We have been literally swamped with applicants."

More Men

More men than women applied, she reported, which indicated that the former "career conference" theme had been replaced by the idea of practical job opportunities.

The conference, now in its fourth year, is sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa, junior and senior men's honorary and leadership society, and Mortar Board, senior women's scholastic honorary. Mary Keita Dosker and John Angelis are co-chairmen of the event.

Pep Rally To Follow Saturday SEC Game

A pep rally will be held in the Kentucky Hotel lobby in Louisville following the final game of the Southeastern Conference basketball tournament Saturday night. Billy Mac Rhodes, president of SuKY, announced.

Coach Adolph Rupp, the team, cheerleaders, and the University's "Best Band In Dixie" will be present at the event, he said.

A send-off for the NCAA is planned for 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 16 at the Union Station, where each player will be introduced to the crowd.

"We would like to see the students turn out and show the team we, too, think they're No. 1 in the nation," Rhodes said.

Business World Grows Tighter For Women

Coeds' Convocation Opens Conference

Opportunities for the college women graduate in the business world are becoming increasingly "tighter" despite the fact that there still is a normal turnover in most fields due to marriage and other factors. Miss Mary E. Campbell, job editor of Glamour magazine, told career-conscious coeds Monday.

Speaking at an all-women's convocation opening the fourth annual Vocational and Job Conference, she said, "employment conditions are far tighter than one year ago and show little indication of becoming better." She attributed the condition in general to "economic jitters" and said it is true of all fields.

More Applicants

There are three times more applicants for every job than there have been at any time in recent years," Miss Campbell explained. "With the turnover remaining about normal, it is becoming increasingly difficult for women to break into many vocational fields."

The Spice Of Life

By Helen Dorr and Pat Quinn
The spring-like weather, last week-end convinced the ADPs that they ought to get out in the open air so they all went riding. They still have hopes that Jo Ann Marsh didn't hurt the horse.

The Lambda Chis came up with a different party in the form of a "Red Sock Slide." It's too complicated to explain but it sounds like fun.

The Alpha Xis varied their tea with an exploding punch bowl but we don't think they did it on purpose.

The KA's say that Nancy Roberts is wearing Frank Benton's KA key. Is this a new way of being pinned or what?

One girl has been crying in disappointment for the past two weeks since she found out that Medley Ling wasn't telling the truth when he told her that he was half Chinese.

Jeanne Vance is very much in earnest about criminology and always has a good time when she's late.

At the Sig Ep "record" party, last Friday, were Charles Parish and Mary Metcalfe; Glenn Hunt and Robbie Potter.

Why is J. T. Underwood's theme song, "And Mimi"?

To whom may concern—If you don't think four door-knobs is a legit claim for blackwood, just ask Mike Nokes.

We hear two junior boys are dating Henry Clay girls. Is the competition here that keen, boy?

If you have been having trouble getting Jewell Hall lately, it's because Margaret Wells has been getting two-hour phone calls from Mexico City.

D. Floyd; Marietta Ball and Johnny Miller; Frances Combs and Gerald Dobson; Milti Wilson and Charlie Chin. It looks like spring is here at last!

Stacey Davenport has finally found out who her mysterious caller with a foreign accent is. Stacey was the victim of a pranking joke, which had the campus laughing.

Three girls in Jewell Hall have been baby sitting for charity, and they enjoy it. Ages preferred: 18 to 20.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, THE KERNEL:

Your feature news story of last week reported the SGA meeting at which the NSA issue was voted upon by secret ballot. I would like to know what right any representative body has to vote secretly upon any issue? The members of SGA are supposed to represent the various groups which elected them. Their vote is not supposed to express their personal opinions and beliefs but the will of their constituents. Why then, may we not know how our representative voted on NSA—the most important issue of the year on our campus?

Overheard—How about two hamburgers, instead of a steak?

We predict a lot of pinning before June—three we could name.

Excuse of the week—I didn't know I had a date.

Line of the week—It's your turn to make the advance. It's Leap Year!

"Bugs" Barbee gave a birthday party for John Venable at the Little Inn. A pinning is predicted before the quarter ends.

Another Zeta turn-out was recorded last weekend at the Hunt Club.

Skeeter Hall and Camille Lamb have been seeing a lot of each other; Ted Vimont and Joan Pritchard.

Unpinned: Elliott Peel and Carolyn Elsey.

Jim Lett and Helen Mokas surprised everyone, last weekend, by getting married.

Lost—one stray bulldog. Please return to columnists.

More Twosomes: Charlie Irwin and Jack Enders; Mary Caroline Carter and Jack Enders; Louise Swinford and Doug Ross.

Jean Stevens and Ralph Beard have been seeing quite a lot of each other this past week.

More pinning: Ida Boston to Bob Nicholas; Shank Woods to Emette Eads of Campbellsville.

ROY W. AMIDON

EDITOR, THE KERNEL:

In regard to the bill on affiliation with the National Student Association which has been voted down by SGA, I ask you: Will there be any effort on the part of SGA to poll student opinion on this question? The answer to this indicates that decision of SGA does not necessarily represent that of the students.

Numbers in the various colleges were: Arts and Sciences, 539; Agriculture and Home Economics, 458; Engineering, 243; Commerce, 170; Education, 78; Law, 42; Pharmacy, 24.

Our student body and SGA have missed a great opportunity to voice their opinions as a group on a national level through NSA on such questions as: veterans benefits, universal military training, civil rights, atomic control, student cooperatives, and international and national student scholarship.

It is a sad commentary on our SGA that it rejects a proposal without even giving it a chance.

HAROLD FRIEDLY

Editor, The Kernel:

It is with genuine regret that I learn that our Student Government Association has failed to ratify the constitution of the National Student Association... I feel sure that UK has missed a good chance. We can't say "Thank God for Arkansas" in this case because the University of Arkansas joined NSA several weeks ago. Better luck next time.

CHARLES BOOGES

All libraries on the campus contained a total of 406,765 books in June, the last official tabulation.

During the year up to the time 24,000 volumes were added. Last year 7500 registered borrowers checked out a total of 105,600 books.

I further believe that those so-called representatives who elected to use the secret ballot should be recalled by their respective groups, for surely, if they haven't the intestinal fortitude to acknowledge and proclaim their own activities in the name of their group, then they no longer have the right to represent that group in SGA.

Also I believe that the president of SGA was dilatory in not at once perceiving the ethics of the situation and correcting it. It was too obvious to be overlooked, therefore it must have been condoned by the president.

Are we going to be represented by SGA or are we going to be dictated to by SGA through anonymous acts and decrees?

ROY W. AMIDON

Dangerous Intersection

It's a grisly thought but the newly scarred tree trunk on Graham Avenue makes us wonder how long it will be before the inevitable happens at the blind corner between the Biological Sciences and Home Economics buildings.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love and driving his new automobile at even a higher rate of speed, in the stretch and around corners, the Graham Avenue blind corner included.

The danger at this treacherous intersection could be minimized in two simple steps.

The first would be for drivers to approach it more slowly and to keep on their side of the center line.

The second would be the installation of above-the-surface line markers or islands to keep autos on the right side of the line. A stop sign placed on the northeast corner for traffic going west on Graham might also be a good idea.

The number of veterans enrolled in educational institutions under the G. I. Bill and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act for the disabled had reached an all-time high of 270,391 in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky on December 1.

The students of the University of Trieste have greeted in the Friendship Gargo, "Hoosier State," the everlasting symbol of the human brotherhood of the American People towards the Italian one.

They beg you represent to the American People the sentiments of most heartfelt gratitude of the Italian one, will not forget.

How many operators will we need NEXT YEAR?

This is but one of the many questions telephone men are called upon to answer.

Part of their work has always been to anticipate demands for personnel... to determine what additional equipment must be provided, what new construction will be necessary to handle the constantly increasing demands for service.

Careful planning in every phase of telephone work requires the services of many qualified men. For them, this growing business offers the opportunity for active, interesting careers.

There's a future in telephony.

UK's Observatory Offers Professional Training Free

By Stanley J. Schill

Not too long ago, a little man walked down one of the busy thoroughfares of Lexington with a "dime-gum" over his shoulder. He called it a telescope.

to give an unrestricted view of the heavens. It was put up just back of where Cooperstown is now.

The telescope was sent to Philadelphia for repairs and adjustment to position and declination of Lexington. The bill came to more than $1400.

New Equipment

Through the years new equipment such as a transit, a chronograph, astronomical clock, a spectroscopic attachment for the telescope, and various other contrivances were added until now, the supplementary equipment alone is worth over $8000.

Time passed, and Dr. H. H. Downing took charge of astronomy here. Then Dr. Downing took over the reins of the Department of Mathematics, and the responsibility for the observatory fell to Miss Virginia F. Rohde, who is still in charge.

Not long ago the Department of Mathematics and Astronomy inaugurated a policy of opening the observatory to the public one night each week. Recently, however, the results have been disappointing.

Public Show

The observatory is open every Monday night to all those who wish to attend, and the demonstrations and lectures start at 7:45 sharp, and last for about an hour. Miss Rohde has announced that she will be there every clear Monday night from now on.

Beginning next quarter, with the resumption of the course in Practical Astronomy, the observatory will also be open for members of that class only, on Tuesday nights.

The public is welcome to all Monday night sessions.

The dome was originally designed to house a twelve-inch scope, in hopes that some day the University would be endowed with one of such size, or be able to afford one.

Refracting Telescope

The present telescope, which is of the refracting type, in contrast to the giant reflecting telescope of Mount Palomar, is able to enlarge objects 600 times.

At the present time, it is being used primarily for student observation, and very little celestial investigating is being attempted. This is due to the lack of a trained professional astronomer, but Dr. Downing hopes to have an experienced man and a better telescope within the next two or three years, in which case operations at the observatory will swing into high gear.

Hindrances

According to Dr. Downing, the at-

Conley Says He's Hurt -- Blames Kernel

By Smoky Fields

The case of Conley vs. Barker, filed last week on the Law School bulletin board, was hastily removed to the Dean's office for jurisdictional reasons. The story, however, is still circulating, and it goes like this:

Pat Conley was suing George Barker and The Kentucky Kernel, alleging that a recent flood of testimonial publicity had injured his reputation in that many people now believed he was in such dire financial straits as to accept charitable bribes.

Needs No Help

Isolating the rumor that he was insolvent a "barefaced lie," the story continued, "he (Conley) asserted that the truth of the matter was that he was receiving $75 a month from the government and that he didn't 'need no help from nobody.'"

He was quoted further as saying, "As a result of this unfounded publicity, I have been unable to float a loan in order to get my laundry."

Attorney for the defendant Barker was reported to have said that he "was prepared not only to show that Conley had given his consent, but that he had actually 'begged him' to use his name."

Admiralty Court?

A prominent and widely read legal author and authority on "equitable conversion" said when queried as to his "rationalization" (legal term for "snow-job") of the case, said it definitely should be transferred to the Admiralty Court since both parties were "sea" students, and cited numerous articles in the Siberian Law Quarterly which conclusively proved his point, he said.

Members of the Law School faculty could not be found for comment because they were all out searching for the author of the story, who is, according to confidential reports received by the Kernel, out searching for a job.

New Course Opened On World Religions

An impartial study of 10 of the great religions in the world today is incorporated in a newly-devised course which will be offered students through the Department of University Extension, it was announced by Prof. Louis Clifton, director.

The public is welcome to all Monday night sessions.

The dome was originally designed to house a twelve-inch scope, in hopes that some day the University would be endowed with one of such size, or be able to afford one.

Advantages

They had all the advantages of a fully equipped observatory, and an instructor who knew his business.

This observatory, which was erected in 1931, and designed by a group of architects who specialized in astronomical buildings, cost $35,000.

The first observatory on the campus was on the northeast corner of what is now McVey Hall, and was built in 1903. It housed an eight-inch, second-hand telescope, and the sub-department of astronomy until 1928.

In The Way

Then one night, when someone tried to investigate the mysteries of Mars a little further, they discovered that McVey Hall was in the way. In fact, buildings had sprung up all around the campus, and the observatory no longer had enough room to maneuver.

Then, to save the expense of a new building, someone suggested moving the telescope to the top of Pence Hall. That was vetoed as impractical, and the new Observatory was in its way.

The $35,000 was earmarked for the new structure, and the construction was started that year.

Movable Dome

The edifice, as it stands now, has a movable dome with a sliding top

'Laura' To Be Last Movie Of Quarter

"Laura," starring Gene Tierney, Dana Andrews, and Clifton Webb, will be the last in the series of movies sponsored this quarter by the activities committee of the Student Union Board.

Dr. Werlin bases his expectations on the results of last summer's centers, in which twenty-five colleges and universities were represented.

These study centers, which also include Mexico and Guatemala, are designed to acquaint the students with the social, cultural, and historical aspects of Latin-American countries. Dr. Werlin explained. Field trips, sight-seeing tours, and recreational excursions to spots of historical and cultural interest are scheduled by said centers. A uniform is to be worn, and students are to save materially in the costs of travel, housing, meals, and tours, the director explained.

Cuba Trip Is $275

Traveling and living costs for the Cuba center are $275, excluding tuition. For the combined Mexico-Guatemala center, the expense is $340, excluding tuition. The tuition is based on the subjects taken.

These study centers are recognized by the Veterans' Administration, and veterans are exempt from tuition and receive their usual subsistence allowance, Dr. Werlin said. Enrollment is arranged through a letter of eligibility from the local Veterans' Administration office of the student.

All courses are taught in English and are open to both undergraduate and graduate students. Students enrolling in the Cuba center will leave Houston June 7 and will return in the middle of July. The combined Mexico-Guatemala center will begin July 19 and end Aug. 23.

University Girls Are Better Housekeepers

Improvements in living quarters for University women were made this year despite crowded conditions.

Mrs. G. M. Zemp, manager of the women's residence halls, said Thursday.

Much of the credit for improvement is given to the students themselves, who are Mrs. Zemp said, "better housekeepers" than those have been in previous years.

Residents of Jewell and Boyd halls were commended for their co-operation while the rooms and hallways were being painted.

New carpets and furniture have been added in Patterson and Boyd halls.

Elimination of food waste has been stressed this year, according to Frances Kendall, assistant manager and dietitian. The $10 increase per quarter for food has been absorbed by the increase in food prices, she stated.

Dancing Don'ts For Dopes

He says, "Shall we dance?" Shakesee Twitch are all the same to this single-track trucker. Rhythm? The dark? In the dark about the right way to dance?

There are probably any number of mistakes that can be made on a dance-floor; but it's the considered opinion of Maya Boleyn, international dance instructor, that they all come down to five major floor flaws. Commenting in a young man's magazine, Miss Boleyn appealed to the American male to check his dancing against her list.

Here are the groupings—in quiz form—as quoted from Varsity:

1—Are you a "Gorilla Grinner"? It's hard to tell if this man aims to kill, squeeze, or please. He wraps his arms around a girl's waist in a death-grip that's against the laws of humanity. Remember—if she can't break it, she certainly can't dance!

Eskol To Give Palestine Talk

The International Relations Club at Transylvania College this week announced that Mrs. Alice Klausner Eskol will speak on "The Culture of Modern Palestine" in the Red Room of the Lafayette hotel at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 11.

Mrs. Eskol was born in Jerusalem but lived in Tel Aviv until she returned to Jerusalem to enter the Hebrew University, where she received her masters degree in philosophy, literature, and history. She is now working for her doctor of philosophy degree by doing research for the Hebrew university.

Taught At Tel Aviv

Mrs. Eskol has written on various subjects concerning Palestine, and has taught in one of Tel Aviv's modern high schools and has served as instructor to university groups.

Mrs. Eskol's talk will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Those interested may obtain tickets by calling Miss Roslyn Ilenberg, Hamilton Hall, phone 1125.

Barnes To Be Given Medal

Dr. Clark G. Kuebler, president of Ripon College, Ripon, Wisconsin, will be the speaker at the Sigma Chi fraternity banquet at 7 p.m. Saturday, at the Lafayette Hotel.

SX Holding Meetings

The banquet will be one of a series of Sigma Chi meetings to be held this week in Lexington and Danville and will be attended by 300 persons, Sigma Chi officers said.

The chapter at Centre College will be awarded the Daniel William Cooper Scholarship Trophy Saturday morning, which is given annually to the chapter having the highest scholastic average and this marks the first time that one chapter has won the award two years in succession.

Law Dean To Speak

Hamilton Douglass, dean of the Atlanta Law School will be the speaker at a luncheon in Danville Saturday following the presentation exercises.

A meeting of all chapters in the Kentucky-Tennessee district will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Phoenix Hotel. Delegates from the University of Tennessee, Vanderbilt University, University of Chattanooga, Centre College, and the University will discuss matters of organization and management under the guidance of Provost Head Dr. Carroll D. Phillips of the Department of Rural Financing and Marketing at the University. Lambda Lambda Chapter at the University will act as hosts.

Barnes Honored

At the meeting, C. Edwin Barnes, former University student and member of Sigma Chi, will be awarded a medal as runner-up in the organization's National Ballot Award contest, an award which goes to the most outstanding member of the chapter.

Tostmaster for the banquet will be Chester W. Cleveland, editor of the Sigma Chi magazine. He will introduce Oscar MacNab, fraternity historian; Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, dean of women at the University and honorary sweetheart of Sigma Chi; Ab Kirwan, Kentucky's dean of men, and Sigma Chi officers.

Georgia Tech, Tulane Win SEC Openers

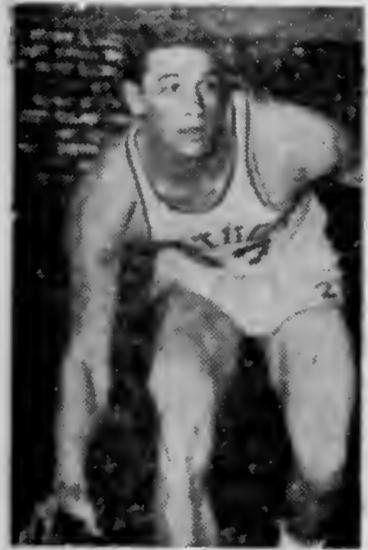

With big Jim Nolan tossing in 25 points, The Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech pulled a first round upset victory over the slow-moving Crimson Tide of Alabama, 46-34, yesterday afternoon. The upset in the very opening game of the fifteenth annual SEC tournament, came as hardly no surprise to Wildcat fans who had seen Tech and the elongated Nolan score 54 points against Kentucky less than two weeks ago. While the Wildcats were winning that encounter 78-54, Nolan was personally accounting for 32 points from the pivot.

Tech jumped into an early lead, and held a 17-16 halftime advantage, but with Nolan, a strong All-SEC candidate, getting 18 of his points in the second half, the Red Elephants just couldn't match the pace. Sharp was high for fourth-seeded Alabama with nine points.

By virtue of their victory yesterday, Tech advances to the finals against Georgia's Bulldogs. Game time is 1:30 p.m. this afternoon.

In the second opening round game played yesterday, Tulane's second-seeded Green Wave had to come from behind in the last half to down the Auburn Plainsmen, 47-40. At the half, Auburn led 20-14.

Williams and Moberly, the latter a freshman from Kentucky, paced the Plainsmen with 15 and 9 points, respectively. For Tulane, Rissner with nine, and Athas with eight, were high.

WALLACE "WAH WAH" JONES and Southpaw JIM LINE, outstanding Wildcat forwards, have scored 222 and 192 points, respectively. Along with JOE HOLLAND, who has 115 points, and CLIFF BARNER, with 191, these boys are expected to be big guns SEC meet.

North Carolina And Oklahoma Ags Lead In Offense, Defense

Kentucky's tournament-bound Wildcats moved into the top ten teams on the nation in both offense and defense the past week, although dropping from fifth to seventh place in the offensive department. They returned to the top ten in defense for the first time since mid-season, with a tenth place defensive average of 43 points per game. The Wildcat offensive average is 69.1.

Western Kentucky moved from sixth to fifth place with an offensive average of 69.4 points in 27 games, but are not among the top ten defensive teams.

North Carolina State forged into the offensive lead with a 77.1 average in 28 games. The Southern Conference champs have lost but two games. Rhode Island State, the perennial national scoring leaders, have a firm hold on second place with a 75.3 average. Next best is Bowler Green's 70.5.

The defensive-minded Oklahoma Aggies are still in a class all by themselves as far as defensive averages are concerned. In winning 24 of 27 starts, the Hank Iba men have limited their opponents to an average of 31.6 points per game. Second best is Alabama with 39.7. The remaining eight teams are bunches together separated by only a few tenths of a point.

The Wildcats met two of the leading defensive teams during the regular season and gave their averages a licking, but none of their opponents are listed as offensive leaders. Three SEC teams are among the top ten in defensive averages.

Whenever the name Adolph Rupp is mentioned in sports circles a number of stories about the Kentucky coach immediately floods the conversation. One of the most legendary of the Rupp stories originated over a dozen years ago, but is still told wherever sports is the main topic of conversation.

The 1935 Kentucky team, with big LeRoy Edwards starring, was one of the Nation's best. Defeated, it travelled to New York and lost to unbeaten NYU, 22-23, in the last seconds via a foul called on Edwards for screening. Rupp complained bitterly about the officiating. On his return to Lexington, a newspaperman asked him to explain what happened. "I really don't know," Adolph said. "Riding back yesterday I turned on the radio. A broadcast came on from one of the churches in New York. The minister used as his text, 'He was a Stranger, and They Took Him In.' That's all I know about what happened.

Adolph Rupp

Dale Barnstable, in case you can't read the players' numbers, is the guy with the flailing arms who seems to confuse the opposition until they don't know which basket is where.

Barney, as he is called by his team-mates and just about everyone else, seems to be the answer to the perplexing question of perpetual motion. On the court, at least, he's a blonde demon. With his long length and equally long arms and legs, he looks like a giant spider with all its extremities going at the same time.

He flings those things around a gym with utter abandon. When this 6-foot, 2½-inch, 175 pound sophomore twists his lanky frame into a crouch in front of an opponent, and makes like a windmill, you can be sure there's going to be action a-plenty, and soon, too.

Boss Rupp calls Barney one of the most improved players on the squad, and anyone who has ever seen Dale play, will readily agree. The Baron says that Barnstable just refuses to be on the second team. "What can you do with a guy like that?"

Barney, who hails from Antioch, Illinois, isn't as tall as he looks. Not that he's any shrimp—not by far. While Alex Groza doesn't look as tall as he actually is, Barney's just the opposite.

On the floor, Barney is the proverbial "whirling dervish." Combining that with really smooth ball handling, well nigh perfect shooting, and plenty of speed, and you've got a ball player for the All-Americans to contend with. And beside all that, Dale will be around for another couple of years, and will come in very handy.

Dale started last year, his freshman season, at one of the guard posts; but since those seem pretty well plugged with Beard, Rolling—who by the way, is leaving, Parkinson—who also departs this year, Stough, and Cummins, Rupp has moved Barney up front. Actually, he has been alternating between guard and forward this season, and doing a very good job at both spots.

The Athletic Publicity Office calls Barnstable "a fine competitor." We'd like to take the liberty of altering that to read, "a terrific competitor," for that is he.

Don't get the idea that because we haven't mentioned it, Barney isn't a good shot. A quick look at the scoring sheet will quickly clear up any misapprehensions you may have on that point. When he takes it into his head to roll up some points, he really burns that net, and angles mean nothing. He'll shoot from anywhere.

Watch this lad. He's a ball player who will be making headlines some day, and that day isn't too far off.

University Student Wins Lead The Band Contest

By John Irvin

When Fred Lulgart, Jimmy Mulroy, and Bob Trimble got to the box office at Joyland Monday night they came awfully close to heading back to town—for without dates they couldn't see putting down nine bucks to hear Sammy Kaye.

One half hour later Fred was well equipped to set up housekeeping. He had been voted winner in Kaye's coast-to-coast So-You-Want-To-Lead-A-Band contest.

Representing the teen-ager group, Fred had put the band through its paces with the "One-O'Clock Jumbo."

Fred's "take" for the night included an electric Laundry affair, an electric blanket, a portable radio, a vacuum sweeper, a wrist watch, a Ronson lighter, and other items too numerous to mention (and too bulky for Fred to get home without the aid of a truck.)

What Fred doesn't even know until he sees it in print now is that Sammy Kaye made a statement for Kernel that may mean the youthful SAE winds up at Carnegie Hall later this year.

Kaye said, "I thought Fred was so good he may be in the 1948 So-You-Want-To-Lead-A-Band Contest Finals at Carnegie Hall, in which the first prize includes $1000 in cash."

Sammy explained that as the program winner on the last Monday night American Broadcasting Company nation-wide show, Fred has a good chance to represent the "teen-age group" from the South in the final Carnegie Hall shindig.

John Drinkall, East Lancashire, England, is visiting the University campus and Experiment Station this week studying American agricultural methods.

Mr. Drinkall will address the staff of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics and Experiment Station at 11 a.m. Saturday in the assembly hall of the Experiment Station.

Wildcats Halt Xavier's Win Record, 59-37

By Tom Diskin

Hitting 36.9 percent of their field goal attempts, the Kentucky Wildcats easily defeated Xavier, 59-37, before a capacity crowd of 5200 people last Saturday night in the Muskeeter fieldhouse.

Xavier, whose 15-game winning streak on their home court was shattered by UK, managed to make only 16 goals in 88 shots for a 18.1 average. The Cats collected 24 baskets in 65 tries to register win No. 27 of the campaign, against two losses—Temple and Notre Dame. Xavier's record now is 21 victories and five losses.

Barker And Jones Lead Cats

Clever Cliff Barker and Wah Wah Jones took high scoring honors for the winning quintet, garnering 15 and 12 points respectively, as the Xavier defense held UK's two high scorers for this season—Ralph Beard (337) and Alex Groza (331)—to a total of only 12 markers. Beard, who was guarded by Bob Alston, scored eight, while Groza collected four against Malcolm McMullen, Xavier's leading point-getter in the contest with 13 tallies.

The rebounding of Jones and Groza throughout most of the game was outstanding. They grabbed the sphere off both backboards frequently and gave the shorter X players little chance to control the ball until late in the game.

Xavier Falls Behind After First Half

The contest started off with Wah Jones, the Harlan Hurricane, hitting two fielders in the first minute or two of action, and UK jumped to a 10-5 lead shortly after. Then Xavier thrilled the partisan crowd as they started to hit and the count went to 17-15. UK, the closest the white-uniformed Muskies got to tying the score all evening.

Momento later, the Big Blue of Kentucky started to roll and outscored Xavier 14 points to three and pulled up to a 31-18 lead at the end of the first semester of the game.

It was the same story in the second half as the UK cagers continued to pull away with the over-anxious Muskies missing many easy layup shots. Although they played rather ragged at times during the game, the Wildcats convinced the Buckeye crowd that they were the superior team. The 22-point victory gave Kentucky an all-time mark of 21 wins and two losses against Xavier.

Junior Varsity Wins No. 3

The Kentucky junior varsity annexed its third win of the year without a loss as they romped over the Xavier freshmen, 49-25, Saturday. Previously the X five had won 18 straight conquests for the season.

The winners, composed mostly of the Wildcat third-string players, trailed 17-19 at the half, but led by Roger Day, Walt Hirsch and Dutch Campbell, the Kittens took the top position as the score jumped from 21-21, to 32-23 and finally 42-34 before the final gun sounded. Day was high for UK with 15; Bob Rueberg had 10 for X.

Paraplegics Perform At Half

Twelve paraplegics from the Birmingham General Hospital of Van Nuys, Calif., all ex-Army veterans, defeated the Xavier Rockets, 16-0, between halves of the featured game. Both quintets played the game from wheelchairs as the visitors held the collegians scoreless in a 10-minute exhibition.

Kenyon "Dutch" Campbell

Captain Kenny Rollins

Jack Parkinson

Three Senior Wildcats Graduate, Rollins, Parkinson, Campbell

by Kent Holtingworth

Last Saturday night when Kentucky ended Xavier 59-37, three seniors, Captain Kenny Rollins, Jack Parkinson, and Kenton Campbell played their last regularly scheduled basketball game for the Wildcats.

Captain Rollins entered the University in 1941 and played in the four scheduled that year, helping to win two, while dropping two. The next year Kenny was a starting guard on the varsity that included all-Conference players, Marvin Akers and Mel Brewer; Muff Davis and Milt Ticeo.

Rollins held down the forward positions. Rollins didn't tear any nets off baskets around the conference, but he played a steady game and handled the ball well.

At the end of his sophomore year Rollins joined the navy and played with the Great Lakes Naval basketball team for one season. After three long years in the Navy, the Wickliffe, Kentuckian re-entered the University in the fall of '46.

Pitted against All-American Jim Jordan, three-letter-man Buddy Parker, and a host of other returning veterans, Rollins after one week of practice left no doubt in anyone's mind as to who would start along with Ralph Beard at the guard position. He and forward Joe Holland were the only Wildcat performers to start every game last season, and at the close Rollins was one of the five Kentuckians placed on the '47 All SEC first team.

Aside from being elected captain of the Wildcats for two seasons, the first player to ever have this honor bestowed upon him, Rollins prizes most the trophy awarded him at the basketball banquet last year, for the player selected by his teammates, as the most valuable to the team.

It's a real comfort to his teammates and fans alike, to have Kenny in the ball game. When he tears down that center, jumps in the air, sits there for a while and finally flips the ball up and through, for two points, everyone settles back, yawns, and says, "Well, another win for Kentucky."

Coach Rupp is really going to miss Captain Kenny Rollins next season.

Parkinson Was All-American in '46

Jack Parkinson, another senior, will be in the ranks of the professionals next season when the Wildcats work out. Parkinson was Captain of the Kentucky team that won the National Invitational Tournament in New York in 1946 and was placed on the All America Team at the end of that season. He was an All-Conference guard three consecutive years.

In his sophomore year he hit the record for 27 points in the first 32 minutes of a SEC tournament contest.

That was one point less than the record, to that date, and for the next eight minutes Parkinson fired shot after shot from all over the court, in a vain effort to set a new record, but was unable to connect.

"Sleepy" Parkinson slept last year in the Army and on his return to the Wildcats, was unable to wrest a starting guard position from All-American Beard and Capt. Rollins. Parkinson's long shot artistry for the Wildcats, will long be remembered.

Center Dutch Campbell, All Conference, his freshman year, will also graduate at the end of this season.

This '47' reserve had the hard luck to be playing for a team that had such outstanding centers as Wah Jones, Bob Brannum and Alex Groza. Easily a regular on almost any team in the nation, Dutch preferred to be a substitute for Kentucky his last two years, so as to help him when he takes up coaching after his graduation.

Before taking up his coaching career though, the big Ohian plans to play a few years of professional ball.

Bowling, Badminton Close Winter Intramural Docket

The Winter quarter intramural sports program comes to a close next week with the crowning of bowling and badminton champions. Championships in the two bowling leagues will be decided as will a singles and doubles champion in badminton.

Intramural director Bill McCubbin announced that wrestling, tennis, softball, golf and track will make up the Spring quarter calendar. Entry date for wrestling and softball has been set for March 26. Tennis and golf won't start until mid-April or later, and the two day Intramural track meet will take place sometime in May.

McCubbin requested that anyone entered in either of the sports now being played, or anyone who intends to take part in the spring sports, should keep a regular check on the bulletin board in the Alumni Gym basement.

Fifteen fraternity men and one independent advanced to the fourth round, or eighth-finals, of the Badminton Singles tournament, in matches played yesterday. Unless some unforeseen difficulties arise over a place to play, the quarterfinals will be held Tuesday, and the semi-finals later on in the week.

In the Doubles tournament, the eighth-finals must be played by Monday. Quarter-finals are scheduled for Monday, and the semi-finals for Tuesday. The date for the finals hasn't been set yet.

To the Singles division, the sixteen remaining competitors include four ATOs, three Sigma Chis, two Kappa Alphas, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Phi Delta Taus. The Independents, Delta Tau Deltas, and Phi Kappa Taus have one each.

The "A" League Bowling tournament started yesterday afternoon at the Colonial Lanes, with nine five-man teams qualifying for competition.

Semi-final rounds will be played Monday afternoon and the championship match is booked for Tuesday afternoon. The nine qual-fying teams are Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Tau, Delta Tau Delta, Alpha Sigma Phi, Phi Kappa Tau, Sigma Chi, Phi Sigma Kappa, Sigma Nu, and Alpha Tau Omega. The field was paired down to eight teams Wednesday afternoon, the Phi Epsilon and the number two teams from ATO, DTD, and PDK make up the "B" division roster.

Four teams qualified for the elimination tournament in the "B" League, which started yesterday. The championship match is billed for Tuesday, but will probably be played off before then. Sigma Phi Epsilon and the number two teams from ATO, DTD, and PDK make up the "B" division roster.

Kentucky Could Beat Western
But Why Should They Play?

Grid Practice Brings Heavy Work, Injury

By Dudley Saunders

With four men nursing injuries and two others allowing operation scars to heal, it really seemed like football season the past week, as Paul Bryant's gridiron charges rounded out their second week of practice.

Instead of blocking dummies, the Cats are now blocking their teammates on the other side of the line of scrimmage, and some of those bruising tackles and being felt by the backs and ends.

Harry Ulinski, the man who will probably step into All-SEC Center Jay Rhodemeyer's pivot slot next fall, is still nursing a bad knee operation, and it is doubtful if he will get into uniform before next fall.

The Nashville Dandy John Chumley is the other man still getting over the effects of an operation.

George Blanda

As we prepared to leave for the annual Southeastern Conference tourney, we found that we could no longer avoid the favorite question in sports circles, "Can Western beat Kentucky?" And now that we've started into it we're not too sure that we want to ignore it any longer.

We saw Ed Diddle's great Western aggregation play in the KIAC tournament in Louisville last week. And we saw Peck Hickman, a Diddle trained man, point his Louisville Cardinals to within a one point upset of the Hilltoppers—a moral victory for University of Louisville.

Now we'll have to admit that outside of height and Dee Gibson, the Hilltoppers haven't got more than an average club, but those two points are enough to make a great squad. Hickman knew this, and he also knew that his midgets at the University of Louisville could do very little about the six-foot-five giants from Bowling Green. So the Cardinal mentor concentrated on slowing up Gibson.

Johnny Knopf, little fury guard, was assigned the duties of playing opposite the Western star. This he did and did very well. With some capable assistance given Knopf by Roy Combs, Gibson got only four points in the first 20 minutes, had a personal marked up against him, and had completely missed the back boards on a half dozen set shots. And Louisville led at the ball time incision by eight points.

Gibson rallied some in the second half, the Hilltoppers really became Hilltoppers as taller men came from the bench to replace already towering giants, and with a crip from the top of the basket and a last second revenge move against Knopf by Gibson, Western remained King of the KIAC by one point. Diddle lost his red towel, however, because we know who got it.

We point out all this about Western, figuring that more people reading this have seen the Wildcats in action than have seen the Hilltoppers. However, in a game with both Western and Kentucky playing their best brand of ball, we have no doubt that Kentucky would win. We don't think, though, that just one game between the two teams would be a true match, but would rather have a two out of three affair.

The big point is, "Why should Kentucky and Western play anyway?" They are recognized as the two top teams in the nation, and as soon as one defeats the other, the loser would probably begin to drop from the top rankings. With Kentucky in the NCAA, Western in the NIT, and Louisville playing in the KIAC, there isn't another state than can come close to Kentucky's claims.

We're proud to be Sports Editor of the school paper for the basketball team that's rated first in the nation, and located in the home of so many nationally recognized cage squads. May we wish all three teams success in their coming tournaments, and continued success in putting this Commonwealth first in basketball.

Track Time Trials Planned As More Prospects Needed

Lack of material and the complete absence of student managers, and not the weather, are the main causes of concern to track mentor Don Seaton.

With hardly three weeks remaining before the first varsity meet and about twice that time before the opening freshman meet, there just aren't enough boys out to fill up the ranks of either squad.

Only immediate hope was that the warmer weather will entice the colder-natured boys to come out. However, the real shot in the arm will come when several members of the football and basketball squads fan up their equipment and head for the cinder-path.

Spring football practice doesn't end until around April 3, a week after the Purdue Relays. It isn't known yet when the basketball finale will take place, what with national tournaments and Olympic trials ahead.

Seaton continues to plead for more support from the student body pointing out that track isn't a scholarship sport and that he has to depend upon the student body and athletes from the other sports to make up a team.

The handful of track candidates now working out, have shown promise but there aren't enough of them to make up a team. Seaton stated he had been informed by authoritative sources that numerous boys now in school have talent but haven't reported. He pointed out that the weather is becoming progressively warmer and that in case of bad weather the team can run out in the warehouse across Limestone from the gym.

The track mentor announced that a new managerial system will be inaugurated this year, whereby each year the team will have a senior manager. Applicants are requested to apply immediately to his office in the Physical Education department, in the basement of Alumnae Gym.

From the group of sophomores who apply the number will be paired down to two Juniors, and when their senior year rolls around, one will be chosen manager by vote of the squad and Coach Seaton.

To be eligible to serve as a track manager, sophomores must have a 1.8, and the senior manager will have to maintain an even 2.0.

Wildcats Are Favored To Retain SEC Title

The annual Southeastern Conference Basketball Tournament got under way yesterday in Louisville with the defending champion Kentucky Wildcats opening their campaign against Florida for the eleventh conference championship, their fifth crown in succession.

A few tickets are still available for all sessions, according to B. A. Shively, tournament manager. They will be placed on sale at the box office in the Armory before each session.

Quarter-final games are scheduled today with those teams who drew opening-round byes seeing their first action. Semi-finals will be played Saturday morning, with the finalists meeting for the championship Saturday night.

Unless the post-season game for March 13 here, materializes, the Kentucky Wildcats will be idle following the SEC tourney until their initial game in the NCAA.

MARCH 28 — (Which is crowding in on us, but fast!) will be Easter morn. How are you going to be fixed for spring glad rags? Will you step out the front door with pride or walk out the back door? Don't use the back door — You can find the following spring togs in our store and rub elbows with the best of 'em in the said "Easter Parade" — Beautiful spring suits, sport coats, slacks, "Lamb Knit" sweaters (really great), Van Heusen shirts, new mad ties, sport shirts, and "Mallory" spring hats. New styles and ideas are dragging in every day, so drag yourself down and give them the once over.

MY OPINION — Have chosen ED ROBERTS of the ATO fraternity as best-dressed man. He always looks neat but he especially caught my eye at the ATO winter formal a couple of weeks ago. Ed was very correct in a double-breasted, one button roll tuxedo—pleated bosom shirt with lay down collar—black tie with matching studs and cuff links (proper amount of cuff showing too!) and black patent leather evening shoes. As a personal touch he wore a medallion with his fraternity colors and crest — Good dressing, Ed!

NEW FEATURE — The person selected by this column as being especially well dressed, is entitled to two free dinners at the Henry A. Lucas Post Veterans of Foreign Wars Club (226½ E. Main St.) He can take a date or a buddy. If you are chosen, please see me at the store for a letter of introduction to the club manager for your dinners — so, Ed, come in and get your letter.
